

Continuing Education Resources

Value Management is committed to contributing to the Department's overall management objectives of lean operations by improving quality and outcomes, reducing costs without compromising function, and increasing the use of innovative practices and materials. Value Management attend webinars regularly to stay up to date on relevant industry topics, such as newly released industry regulations and innovative processes, as well as to get continuing education credits.

Some of our favorite resources outside NCDOT are listed below (... and most offer free PDH credits!)

Registered Continuing Education Program (www.RCEP.net)

Highlights scheduled educational activities from organizations such as ACEC, TRB, ACC, NAPA and ASCE.

(Note: click on the organization name for a direct link to see their upcoming and past webinars.)

This is a nationwide portal for professional development education and record-keeping. You can tap into a single, comprehensive, and convenient education management system. RCEP makes it easy to stay up to date with professional development requirements, find courses, and manage your continuing education credits.

Cost: Mixed – Click on each course to check if there is a cost or not.

Account: Free account can be set up to use basic features, such as access your personal TRB achievements.

Transportation Research Board (<https://webinar.mytrb.org/Webinars>)

Webinars share and discuss ongoing work associated with TRB Standing Committees and their respective topic areas, as well as research from TRB's Cooperative Research Programs.

Cost: Free

Account: Free account for NCDOT employees (use NCDOT email address when registering).

AASHTO TC3 Trainings (<https://store.transportation.org/>)

TC3 offers courses in construction, maintenance, materials, and more.
